It's really a wonder that I haven't dropped all my ideals, because they seem so absurd and impossible to carry out. Yet I keep them, because in spite of everything I still believe that people are really good at heart.

It must be considered that there is nothing more difficult to carry out, nor more doubtful of success, nor more dangerous to handle, than to initiate a new order of things. For the reformer has enemies in all those who profit by the old order, and only lukewarm defenders in all those who would profit by the new order, this lukewarmness arising partly from fear of their adversaries, who have the laws in their favour; and partly from the incredulity of mankind, who do not believe in anything new until they have had actual experience of it.

Machiavelli

When through one man a little more love and goodness, a little more light and truth comes into the world, then that man's life has had meaning.

Argus Communications

This is the history of man: birth, marriage, and death; and birth, marriage, and death; and birth, marriage, and death. But then a madman with strange ideas appears before the people and tells of a dream of a different world whose more cultured beings see more in their dreams than birth, marriage, and death.

Gibran

At least talk to each other. To communicate is the beginning of understanding.

Because of our loneliness and anxiety resulting from separation and alienation from ourselves, each other, and God, we want someone with whom we can be at one, who can be at one with us, and through whom we may find at-oneness with all. This is the deepest want of all, and the fact of our need is not at all dependent upon our being aware of it. All of us are moved by this desire whether we know it or not, and in one way or another we are seeking such a one, many of us in the wrong ways.

—Reul Howe

What I am interested in doing is finding and expressing a new form of life. The Greeks lived. People do not live nowadays—they get about ten per cent out of life.

Our answer is the world's hope: it is to rely on youth—not a time of life but a state of mind, a temper of the will, a quality of the imagination, a predominance of courage over timidity, of the appetite for adventure over the love of ease.

GO KIDDER!

LET THE MEDICINE HIT

TOPPERS!

For everything there is a season,
and a time for every matter under
heaven:
a time to be born, and a time to die;
a time to plant, and time to pluck
up what is planted;
a time to kill, and a time to heal;
a time to break down, and a time to
build up;
a time to weep, and a time to laugh;
a time to mourn, and a time to
dance;
a time to cast away stones, and a
time to gather stones together;
a time to embrace, and a time to refrain
from embracing;
a time to seek, and a time to lose;
a time to keep, and a time to cast
away;
a time to rend, and a time to sew;
a time to keep silence and a time to
speak;
a time to love, and a time to hate;
a time for war, and a time for peace.
What gain has the worker from his toil?
Ecclesiastes 3: 1-9.

Editor's Note

From the beginning our staff decided that the '71 Thistle would be more than a factual book—it would be a "think" book. We wanted the reader to reflect back on 1971, but more important we wanted him to examine, re-examine, and evaluate himself in 1971.

The teachers, bus drivers, cooks, custodians, secretaries, and board members were not distinguished by their jobs. They were all grouped as staff and administrative personnel for the purpose of emphasizing the person and not the job.

The three underclasses were combined for the purpose of giving the reader a different perspective on the people in the school. Consider them not as members of a particular class, but as individuals. Because of the size and formality of the senior pictures we placed them in a separate section.

We wanted the book to have the same kaleidoscopic affect as a year at school so we did not divide the activities into sections. Each event was recorded as it happened and for the most part the people who were behind it most were pictured. It was difficult to capture everyone who was involved but we think that the action pictures we did get are more significant than posed group shots would have been.

Our book is not dedicated to one person rather to a group of people and their ideas. They have made a very important impression on our lives and we hope the memories of these people and their ideas will never die.
